TO BRING THE BIG CYCLORAMA TO GETTYSBURG

Option on Cobean and Tawney Properties on Chambersburg Street Purchased. Plan to Erect Large Building with Granite Front to House World's Famous Exhibit of Battle of Gettysburg.

That the world famous cyclorama of the Battle of Gettysburg is permanently to be located here in the near future by a company of Washington capitalists is confidently expected, an option on the Cobean and Tawney properties on Chambersburg street having been bought on Friday by representatives of the company. The extent of the enterprise will be far greater than would first appear.

Representing the company were Judge William B. Matthews and General Humphries. They spent several days here, leaving Friday after having secured the option which is for ninety days. It is understood that there is no doubt whatever of the property being purchased in the near future and the erection of a building to house the exhibit will be constructed as quickly as possible.

This building will, it is said, be among the most handsome in town. It is to front 120 feet on Chambersburg street by 180 on South Washington street. The front will be constructed of stone, probably native granite, and the structure is expected to be a great addition to that part of town. The edifice will be built largely of concrete and steel.

It is the plan of the company to have a lecturer at the cyclorama and special efforts will be made to secure tourist trade. It is the present plan to put a tourist agent on the road whose aim it will be to secure numerous excursions to this place. The cyclorama company judge that by increasing the trade to Gettysburg they will also largely increase the receipts of the proposition. The treasurer of the company will be a local party.

THE CYCLORAMA

The cyclorama is a great piece of work by eminent battle painters and its fame is almost world wide. It is described as follows: "Its dimensions are huge, demanding a circular space some 125 feet in diameter by 65 feet in height. In this building will be arranged the enormous stretch of canvas, 50 feet in height, wherein is painted the great struggle between the two contending armies. Surrounding the circular audience platform is a plastic foreground, built up to meet the majestic painting in such a way as to defy detection of the actual point of juncture of the plastic work with that of the artists, thus creating a striking illusion; the auditor imagining, for the time, that he is on an eminence surveying the real conflict."

"Today 'The Battle of Gettysburg' cyclorama is considered the very quintessence of battle painting; the one existing pictorial memorial of the greatest struggle of modern times, and as such has won the right to remain at Gettysburg forever along with those whose valor won for them a resting place there; to perpetuate and accentuate the imperishable heroism of the American soldier."

HAS BEEN PROFITABLE

Those financing the proposition claim that the cyclorama has been a great money maker. It has been exhibited at numerous world's fairs, among them, Chicago, St. Louis and Seattle. It was at Chicago for nine years and while there cleared almost a million dollars. It was exhibited at Boston for some years, the first four of which gave a clear profit of over $300,000. It is hoped to make the affair equally as paying here. Contracts will likely be made with the railroads to add coupons to tickets admitting the holder to the exhibit.

Among those who spoke enthusiastically of the cyclorama when it was first exhibited many years ago were the following: Major General Winfield Scott Hancock, Major General Abner Doubleday, Major General Daniel Sickles, Major General Oliver O. Howard, Major General Carl Schurz, of the Union army; Lieutenant General James Longstreet, Major General Jubal Early, Generals Wade Hampton, Fitzhugh Lee and William Mahone, of the Confederate Army.

WOULD BE WELCOMED

The cyclorama would be one of Gettysburg's greatest attractions and, housed in a beautiful building, would serve as a great ornament to the town. In addition to this it is believed that the efforts of the company owning the same would bring to this place larger numbers of tourists than in recent years.

TO EXTEND TERM OF JUDGE SWOPE

An Extra Year Added to Term of Adams County's President Judge. Necessary under Recent Amendments. Gtes an Extra Year.

Judge Swope is one of the common pleas and orphans' court judges who must have their terms lengthened by cause of the next state legislature because of the operation of the constitutional amendments that were adopted last fall. As a result he will serve an extra year until 1916.

The judges affected are those whose commissions will expire on the first Mondays of 1913, 1914, 1915 or 1916. County judges can be elected, according to the amendments, only at municipal elections, which must be held in November of an odd numbered year. It is impossible, therefore, for the successors to the judges in question to be elected until the November of the year in which their commissions would naturally expire, and provision must be made for the interim. The schedule to carry the amendments into effect provided for extension of terms of judges whose commissions will expire the first Monday of January, 1911 there being five such judges. It remains for the next legislature, however, to pass an enabling act regarding the others whose terms are affected by the amendments.

The judges of course, will not be dealt with specifically by the legislature, but a general act will be passed providing that the judges whose commissions will expire on such dates shall continue in office one year longer—or words to that effect. Indeed, one omnibus bill may be passed extending the term of every public officer whose commission will naturally expire before a successor to him can be elected under the amendments.

FARMERS BUSY IN THE FIELDS

Ploughing, Sparying and Doing Other Spring Work. Women Busy Getting Ready for Spring Gardening. Some already Planted.

Adams County's farmers are now putting in the busiest kind of days with their spring work. The clear March days that have been following rapidly upon each other have given excellent opportunity for the rural people to get out in their fields and orchards and do the work that is found necessary at this time of year.

Ploughing is being done all over the county. Some of the most energetic got at this work two weeks ago while others have been busy with other matters, attending sales and so on and did not start this work until this week. Still others have put off the ploughing and have not yet commenced.

Considerable spraying of trees has been begun and some of the fruit growers have completed their first spraying for this season. This preventive of scale and other pests has been found absolutely necessary in view of the many things that prey upon the fruit trees and the country people find spraying as necessary a part of their spring work as ploughing.

While the men are busy in the fields and orchards the women are turning their thoughts to the gardens. Some places have reported gardens made but they are rather few and far between. The ground is rapidly getting in shape to be worked for the planting of garden truck and it will be a very short while before town and country gardens will be full of growing things getting ready for home consumption or to be put on the market.

CLOSING THE RURAL SCHOOLS

Terms Coming to a Close for the Schools of the Country Districts. Hundreds Present Every Day in the Term. Examinations.

This week one third of the rural schools in Adams County closed for the term of 1909-10. The remainder will close next week with a few exceptions, where time was lost on account of the teachers having been sick or the schools having been closed for a period on account of sickness.

County Superintendent Roth has already received applications for over three hundred certificates of award to be given to pupils who have been present every day during the school year. Last year the total number was 700 but as comparatively few schools have been heard from, it is expected that the number this year will exceed that showing an ever increasing number of county scholars who have a perfect attendance record. Up to this time the highest number asked for by any teacher was by J. G. Wolf, teacher of the Pine Run school in Hamilton township who requested 21. Cash-town comes second with an application for 12. Miss Alma Henry is the teacher at that place.

This year has been one of the most successful in the history of the public schools of Adams County. There have been many educational meetings held during the year all of which were well attended and very profitable to those present.

County Superintendent Roth on Friday finished his visits to the rural schools. Every school in the county has been visited by him with the exception of a few boroughs and these will receive visits before the end of their school term.

One hundred and twenty Adams County school children today took the central examinations which will entitle them to take the finals two weeks hence. If the latter are passed they will receive the common school diploma or be qualified to enter the high school of their district.

Today's examinations were held at the following places in the county, Arendtsville, Bendersville, Eglerville, Ceshatow, Fairfield, Gettysburg, Hampton, Oak Grove, Germany township; Sand Hill, Conewago township; and York Springs.

Pupils who have passed the central examinations in other years may take the finals on April 2. The finals for the entire county will be held on that day in the new Gettysburg High School building. Each of the examinations today was conducted by a committee of five appointed by County Superintendent Roth, he also furnishing the questions which are uniform in all districts. The final examinations will be conducted by Prof. Roth assisted by the various high school principals of the county.

In order to be allowed to take the central examinations each applicant was required to present reports from his teacher showing his average to be above 70 per cent with the mark for no subject below 50 per cent. The passing mark for the centrals is also 70.

MAY DROP DICKINSON

In his report to the Central Pennsylvania conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, at York, Rev. W. W. Evans, D. D., superintendent of the Harrisburg district, touched upon the insubordination of Dickinson College to the control of the Methodist Church. The report also contained a hint that the financial aid of the church now being extended this and other acknowledged Methodist colleges may be cut off if the management of the colleges persist in refusal to recognize the patronage and control of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

BLAMES IT ON THE FARMER

Senate "High Cost of Living" Committee Hears More Testimony.

Washington, March 19.—Continued denials that the American meat packers' association attempted to fix prices in any way, were made by George L. McCarthy, publisher of the National Provisioner, and secretary of the association, in ending his testimony before the senate "high cost of living" committee.

"The consumer must look to the farmer for relief against the present high prices," declared James S. Agar, president of the Western Packing and Provision company, of Chicago, to the committee.

FIREBUGS IN PLOT TO DESTROY TOWN

Huntingdon, Pa., Scene of Remarkable Incendiarism

Huntingdon, Pa., March 19.—Incendiarism, as yet unknown, attempted the destruction of this town. Fires broke out simultaneously in all parts of the place, and the fire department was unable to contend with effectiveness against the fierce attack of the firebugs. The loss is estimated at $200,000.

As a result there is the total destruction of the First Methodist Episcopal church, the plant of the Central Planing Mill company, the Bare planing mill and several private residences.

The First Presbyterian church was threatened with destruction by the flames, suffering great damage.

One of the residences burned was that of Mrs. James Miller, who died after being removed from the house.

The local fire department was unable to cope with the situation and called for assistance from Lewistown and Tyrone.

The Central Planing mill plant, owned by W. J. O'Mara, which faced the First Methodist and First Presbyterian churches, was the first to be attacked by the incendiaries. The blaze ensuing ignited the two churches, and although both were of the most substantial construction, the flames could not be checked until the former had been reduced to ruins and the steeple, with its expensive clock, of the latter church, destroyed.

The authorities believe they have a good clue to the incendiaries, and arrests are hourly expected.

The losses are: First Methodist church, $70,000; insurance $23,000; Central Planing mill, $50,000; insurance $10,000; J. S. Bare planing mill plant, $15,000; insurance $6,000; First Presbyterian church, $20,000; fully insured; residences of Mrs. James Miller, E. M. C. Africa, Frederick Gage, George Leaty and Blair Kaufman. Also ineffectual attempt to burn grocery of S. B. Taylor.

Five years ago there was a similar outbreak of incendiarism in Huntingdon, but despite the unusual efforts to locate the criminals no arrests were made.

Says Miners Will Get Increase.

Cincinnati, March 19.—"The miners will be at work with an advance in wages on and after April 1. You may make that as strong as you please. The conclusion of this conference will be in favor of the miners. I have the means to force acquiescence to our demands, but I do not care to state what they are." This was the statement of T. L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, following the adjournment of the joint scale committee.

FAIRBANKS ENDS WORLD TOUR

Former Vice President Brings Message of Peace

NO GROUND FOR WAR RUMORS

Says Japan Admires the United States and There is No Danger of Trouble With Other Powers.

New York, March 19.—Former Vice President Charles W. Fairbanks and Mrs. Fairbanks ended a year's trip around the world when they arrived here on the Mauretania.

Mr. Fairbanks talked freely. Peace with Japan seemed to concern him most. By a strange coincidence he reaches New York in time to be an honored guest with President Taft at a dinner of the American Peace and Arbitration League, at the Hotel Astor on Tuesday night. On Monday evening he will be the honor guest of the Ohio Society of New York at the Waldorf-Astoria.

"President Roosevelt's administration," said Mr. Fairbanks, "greatly strengthened the ties between us and other powers, and President Taft is understood abroad as favoring a policy of international peace. There is, therefore, no lurking fear of our absolute good faith."

"Diplomacy will adjust, as it should, any and all international questions, so far as we are able to foresee. Nothing but inconceivable blunders in diplomacy can bring about a conflict between us and any of our friends beyond the Pacific or beyond the Atlantic."

No Ground for War Rumors.

"There is not the slightest ground, in my opinion, for the suggestion that now and then obtains currency to the effect that there is danger of war between the United States and Japan, or with any other power. We were never further removed from the possibilities of serious conflict than we are today. Japan has a respect and an admiration for the United States which is genuine and undisguised. I have found such to be the feeling of that country from the emperor and the Katsura cabinet down to men in every walk of life. Editors, business men, and men generally, who influence public opinion, covet nothing more than favorable regard of the United States."

"If there seems to be any conflict of view with respect to Japanese and American rights in Manchuria or elsewhere, it does not follow that it means grave difficulty, or that any thought of trouble enters into the minds of either government because of such action. There is nothing in the present relations between the two countries which can justify any imputation upon the entire good faith of either toward the other."

"And what I have said with respect to the United States and Japan may be said with equal confidence with regard to the United States and Great Britain. I do not, of course, believe many well informed persons of rational judgment think that any conflict of opinion or hitch in negotiations respecting the proposed Chinese loan can lead to grave consequences."

"If it is thought that Great Britain is moving somewhat slowly in the matter it should be remembered that an acute political situation exists in that country, which may make progress at the moment somewhat difficult. Amid these conditions it is not at all strange that there should be more or less delay with respect to the particular matter in which our government is now concerned."

"Germany and France entertain for the United States nothing but sentiments of good will. Emperor William and President Fallieres and the responsible ministers of the two governments lose no suitable opportunity to emphasize this fact."

TRAIN KILLS TWO BOYS

Were Sitting on Track When Locomotive Struck Them.

Schoolfield, Va., March 19.—Martin Haughey, eighteen years old, was instantly killed here, and James Wiles, a nineteen-year-old boy, was fatally injured when they were struck by a southbound passenger train near Pelham. The boys were sitting on the track and were either asleep or so closely engaged in conversation that they did not see the approaching train.

Swallowed Poison Before Sweetheart.

Sharon, Pa., March 19.—"I love you, sweetheart, but cannot marry you, and this is the easiest way out of it," said Francis C. An Attorney Condemned to Wed First Woman Who Will Take Him.

Kansas City, Mo., March 19.—The sentence imposed by a Kansas City Judge on a lawyer, of the criminal court, is carried out, Fred M. Miller, an attorney, will have to wed the first woman who will consent to have him.

Miller filed an application representing himself as a "lonely single man, inspired by the lofty ambition to take unto himself a wife, and so liciting the aid of the court to this end."

This is Judge Latsch's reply: "There is a man who desires to prefer against himself in the criminal court a charge of wanting to get married."

"File the application, Mr. Clark. Enter a plea of guilty after my name, and sentence him to be married to the first woman who will consent to become his wife."

Miller specified that his wife must be well bred, modest and willing to aspire to reach the "highest plane in life and the most lofty limit in thought."

PRESIDENCY HARD JOB, SAYS TAFT

Not Easy to Get There and Not Easy Afterward.

Rochester, N. Y., March 19.—President Taft received a noisy greeting when he arrived in Rochester. The president seemed deeply to appreciate the demonstrative welcome and had his silk hat off almost constantly acknowledging the salutations of the throng. Escorted by companies of the militia and naval reserves, he rode in a flower-decked automobile to the hotel, where, after a brief rest, he appeared on the mezzanine gallery and made a brief address to the crowds.

After referring to the fact that the last time he was in Rochester he was a candidate for office, the president said: "Since that time I have been elected your president, and if any one here thinks that it is an easy job let him try it. It is not easy to get there, my friends, and not easy after you get there. I am glad to be in your beautiful city again. Your mayor tells me it is the best city in the country. I have heard other nice things about Rochester, too. I might tell you what President Brown, of the New York Central, told me if I were not afraid it would be reported in Syracuse and Buffalo."

At Buffalo the president was asked as to the situation in congress. He replied:

"I'm interested, but it has nothing to do with me."

Raves About Helen Taft.

New York, March 19.—Charles Cohen, a youth of eighteen, with delusions, and once an inmate of an asylum at Worcester, Mass., was committed to Bellevue hospital for observation, because he believed that he met Miss Helen Taft, the president's daughter. Cohen raved in court about bringing justice to the world with "torch and dynamite," and had to be restrained by policemen.

A Japanese Spy

By FRANK MARTINDALE

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

During the wars in Japan between the adherents of the mikado and the shogun the mikado's troops were besieging a fortress which both sides wanted.

But there is one matter of importance concerning it that is pertinent to this story. The mikado's army was very small, and a force of the shogun was coming up to the relief of the besieged. This force was expected within a week. The success of the mikado depended upon how long his enemy's supplies would hold out. If there were enough for but a few days the besiegers might remain and reap the benefit of their labors. If the provisions should last longer than that they would better be off before the relief force came up or they might be overwhelmed by a superior army.

To know what supplies the defenders of the fortress had would be of inestimable value to the besieged. It meant a possible possession of the point of attack, and it meant a prevention of a possible annihilation of the emperor's army and the probable loss of his cause.

The devotion of the Japanese people under such circumstances is a wonder. It is that devotion which enabled them to force a peace upon the Russian bear that had threatened to "walk all over" their little island and take possession of it. It is that devotion that has enabled them to protect themselves while cultivating the commercial methods of western civilization.

There came a noble to the mikado and said to him:

"O mighty emperor, it is on account of your majesty's virtue that I feel an impulse spring up within me. My ancestors are looking down upon me and smile pleasantly upon me as I yield to the inspiration. I will disguise myself and obtain admittance to the fortress. There I will observe for how many days your enemies are supplied, and I will return and advise you of the fact."

"I am well pleased," replied the emperor, "that my virtues have produced in you such a worthy motive. You have my permission to go into the fortress and observe the supply of food our enemies have and return to me and tell me. I will request the shades of my own ancestors to watch over you, but if you die in your attempt you will have the satisfaction of knowing that both mine and your ancestors will welcome you in spirit-land."

So the noble prostrated himself before his majesty and turned and went away. That same day a man dressed as a shepherd found access to the fortress and went among the granaries and found them nearly empty. There was food enough to last but two days. The shepherd, satisfied with the information he had gained, was about to leave the fortress when one who had known him before the shogun came on recognized him. The spy was seized and hurried before the shogun.

"This man," said his captor, "is a noble who supports the mikado for the position to which your majesty is entitled. He has been among us in this raiment of a shepherd and knows just how many days' supply we have on hand. What shall we do with him?"

"Crucify him," said the shogun. With that they were leading the spy away to crucify him when the shogun called to them to bring him back. "If you will go to the wall," he said to the spy, "and tell your people that we have supplies to last several weeks I will spare your life."

"That I will do," said the other. "My ancestors call to me to stand firm and they will receive me at my death joyfully, but I have a wife and children in the mikado's camp, and I am loath to leave them for my ancestors, whom I reverence greatly, but have never seen. I am so weak as to prefer my wife and little ones."

"Go, then; tell them what I have said to you, and I will in time return you to those you love."

The spy was conducted to the wall and stood upon it, the soldiers of the shogun keeping in the background. He signaled the besiegers to come near that he might speak to them. So they all drew as near as they dared, the family of the spy coming with the others. The spy stood looking at them benignly as they drew near and saw his wife and little ones looking up at him anxiously, knowing that he must have been discovered by the besieged people and that a great crisis was at hand.

The shogun sat in the center of the fortress, rejoicing that he had found a means of deceiving his enemies and sending them off when near the accomplishment of all they had been so long striving for. About him stood his soldiers waiting to hear the spy tell his people of the abundance of supplies there were in the fort.

Then the spy raised his hand for silence and said to them:

"O my people, I have examined the supplies that there are in this fortress, and there are but enough to last two days."

A thousand spears were hurled at him, and he fell on the wall.

"O my people," exclaimed the mikado, "our ancestors are taking him to their bosoms."

Then he gave orders to move on the fortress, and the defenders, being discouraged, gave way before them, so it was not long before the conquered people were sent to the bosoms of their own ancestors.

A Difference in Time.

A traveler in Ireland, riding a horse that had seen better days, stopped on a country road in Donegal and asked a peasant:

"How far is it to Letterkenny?"

Now, every true Irishman, gentle or simple, is a born sportsman and has a keen appreciation of the points of a good horse. So, after surveying the sorry steed with the eye of a connoisseur, the rustic replied slowly:

"That depends."

"How depends? Depends on what?" asked the traveler impatiently.

"Well," returned Pat in the same measured tones, "ye see, sor, wid a decent horse it's a matter av five mile or so; wid that quare baste av yours it's fully tin. But"—with a sudden burst of energy—"if it was wan av Major Doyle's blood mares ye'd be there now!"

END OF STRIKE NOW AT HAND

Philadelphia Trouble is Nearly Settled.

WILL BE OVER BY MONDAY

Negotiations Are Proceeding Amicably, and It Is Understood Each Side Will Make Concessions—No State-Wide Strike.

Philadelphia, March 19.—Peace between the Rapid Transit company and the striking carmen is at hand, and it is expected the men will return to work Monday morning, if not sooner.

The company and the men are negotiating amicably. The bitterness which marked the statements from both sides early in the week has disappeared. Even Mayor Reburn, who was stalwartly opposed to compromise, has moderated his utterances. His honor spoke a word or two for peace.

Certain influences, business and political, have been working in secret for the past twenty-four hours. They were potent enough to bring about a modification of the company's position and a willingness on the part of the strikers to recede a trifle in their demands. The belief is now that there will be no state-wide strike because the differences between the Rapid Transit company and the carmen will have been settled by Monday, the day named by President Greenwalt, of the State Federation of Labor, for the inauguration of the walkout.

Whatever agreement is reached will have to do with the status of the 173 conductors and motormen discharged a month ago for intoxication, knocking down fares and the good of the service. The peace ambassadors who have been going from the Rapid Transit company to the men and from the men to the company have succeeded, it is understood, in persuading each side to give way a little. The basis of the agreement may be a guarantee on the part of the company that these men shall be given individual trials and a chance to defend themselves, and the guarantee on the part of the strikers that men proved guilty of the offenses charged by the company shall be punished.

The impression is pretty strong that leaders of unions that have backed up the carmen will not tolerate high-handed action by the carmen in case the Rapid Transit company submits a reasonable proposal. These leaders understand that the sympathetic strike here is fizzling out and that there is nothing for them to gain by holding out much longer. Greenwalt's call for a state-wide strike was the last arrow in the quiver, and the response to that call has not been what was expected. Unions in the larger cities of Pennsylvania who were asked what they intended to do on Monday in case the Rapid Transit company and the carmen hadn't come to terms, informed Greenwalt that their men might or might not come out, but that the call had not aroused great enthusiasm. The miners sent word that they would probably have to live up to their three-year agreement with the operators.

After he had talked with Senator McNichol and Recorder Vane, the Republican leaders, Mayor Reburn said that both sides in the labor controversy were feeling kinder toward each other, and that some form of agreement would be reached very soon.

There came a noble to the mikado and said to him:

"O mighty emperor, it is on account of your majesty's virtue that I feel an impulse spring up within me. My ancestors are looking down upon me and smile pleasantly upon me as I yield to the inspiration. I will disguise myself and obtain admittance to the fortress. BUYS PAINTING FOR $500,000

Otto Kahn Gives Half Million Dollars For a Picture.

New York, March 19.—Half a million dollars—a record high price for a painting—was paid for the celebrated portrait of Franz Hals, the Dutch painter, and his family, painted by himself.

The purchaser was Otto Kahn, the banker, who bought the portrait from Duveen Brothers.

J. P. Morgan bid between $350,000 and $400,000 for the picture.

The painting was brought to this country only a few weeks ago. It will be on exhibition at the Metropolitan Museum in this city, and Mr. Kahn has already expressed a willingness to lend it to other public art galleries throughout the country.

Efforts were made to keep the painting in England, but they failed, and it is one of the first really great European masterpieces to be brought to this country duty free, under the new tariff provisions.

PURE FOOD LAW VIOLATED BY NATURE

Grocer Sold Corn Starch Containing Nitrates.

Altoona, Pa., March 19.—After being on trial in the Blair county court for three days, John Hoffman, an Altoona grocer, charged with selling 8 cents' worth of corn starch which was alleged to have contained nitrates, said to be deleterious to health, was acquitted at the direction of the court, representatives of the state dairy and food department declining to ask for a conviction, because it had been demonstrated to their satisfaction that nature, and not man, had violated the state food laws.

Chemists testified for the defendant that after the corn starch had been exposed to the air the nitrates had multiplied from 1500 to 2000-fold. Dr. Starler and Dr. John Marshall of Philadelphia, told of the absorption of nitrates from the air by corn starch with which they had experimented, and their observations were corroborated by Dr. J. A. Woessner, of Chicago. It was shown that no nitrate had been used in the manufacture.

The impression is pretty strong that leaders of unions that have backed up the carmen will not tolerate high-handed action by the carmen in case the Rapid Transit company submits a reasonable proposal. These leaders understand that the sympathetic strike here is fizzling out and that there is nothing for them to gain by holding out much longer. Rheumatic Pains

"My mother is a great sufferer from rheumatism, and Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills is the only remedy that relieves her."

MRS. G. DAVENPORT,
Roycefield, N. J.

The pains of rheumatism are almost invariably relieved with Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills. They also overcome that nervous irritation which prevents sleep because they soothe the nerves. To chronic sufferers they are invaluable. When taken as directed, they relieve the distress and save the weakening influence of pain, which so frequently prostrates. Many sufferers use them whenever occasion requires with the greatest satisfaction, why not you? They do not derange the stomach nor create a habit. Why not try them? Get a package from your druggist. Take it according to directions, and if it does not benefit he will return your money.

OVERTAXED

Hundreds of Gettysburg Readers Know What It Means.

The kidneys are overtaxed; Have too much to do. They tell about it in many aches and pains—Backache, sideache, headache. Early symptoms of kidney ills. Urinary troubles, diabetes, Bright's disease follow.

A Gettysburg citizen tells here the way to keep the kidneys well.

Mrs. James Bumbaugh, 126 E. Middle Street, Gettysburg, Pa., says: "I can confirm all I said in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills two years ago, when I gave a public statement, recommending them. My system was filled with uric acid and in the morning I was so stiff and lame that I could hardly get out of bed. My joints were swollen and the kidney secretions caused me much annoyance by their irregularity in passage. Acting on the advice of a friend, I finally procured Doan's Kidney Pills at the People's Drug Store. They helped me from the first and gradually the symptoms of my trouble disappeared until I was well. I urge anyone suffering from kidney complaint, to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.
